

KEVIN P. BROWNE, DMD GENERAL DENTISTRY

“Our objective is to help people understand their oral health issues and what’s possible, and participate in planning their own treatment,” says Dr. Kevin Browne. “The practice we are building is based on relationship-oriented comprehensive care. Comprehensive treatment begins by listening to and getting to know each patient, doing a thorough diagnosis, and then, with the patient’s input, developing an individual treatment plan.”

Dr. Browne’s long-term goal for each patient is predictable health, comfort, function, and aesthetics. For him, aesthetic dentistry is not a separate dental specialty. “Everything we do should be functional and look natural and beautiful before we consider it a success,” he says.

A UMDNJ graduate, Dr. Browne has completed training at both the Pankey Institute and the Spear Institute for Advanced Dental Education. He is an active faculty member at both institutes and teaches dental residents at Overlook Hospital. Dr. Browne was also named a New Jersey Monthly Top Dentist last year.

Dr. Browne’s advanced training in occlusal (bite) disease, aesthetics, and treatment planning allows him to tackle complicated cases. “It’s especially gratifying to have area dentists and specialists refer patients to help solve their complex oral health issues,” he says.
